Present Levels of Academic Achievement and Functional Performance

Areas of strength: Ethan is curious, asks thoughtful questions in science, and is a strong visual learner. He enjoys building and hands-on projects and responds well to clear routines.

Areas of need: Written expression, sustained attention during independent work, and organization of materials and assignments.

Ethan has a diagnosis of ADHD. He completes about 50% of independent writing assignments. When given a writing task without a model, he often refuses verbally or puts his head down.

Goals

Goal #1 Area of Need: Written Expression

Baseline: Ethan writes 2 to 3 related sentences on a topic when given a sentence starter.

Annual Goal: By 09/2027, given a graphic organizer and a model, Ethan will write a five-paragraph essay with an introduction, three body paragraphs and a conclusion, scoring 3 out of 4 on the grade-level rubric in 3 of 4 trials, as measured by teacher rubric.

Person(s) Responsible: Education Specialist, General Education Teacher

Goal #2 Area of Need: Organization / Executive Functioning

Baseline: Ethan records assignments in his planner in about 1 of 5 classes.

Annual Goal: By 09/2027, Ethan will record assignments in his planner and check them with an adult at the end of the day in 4 of 5 school days, as measured by planner checks.

Person(s) Responsible: Education Specialist, Paraprofessional

Goal #3 Area of Need: Behavior / Work Completion

Baseline: Ethan stays on task for about 8 minutes during independent work.

Annual Goal: By 09/2027, during independent work, Ethan will stay on task for 20 minutes with no more than one prompt in 4 of 5 observations, as measured by interval data.

Person(s) Responsible: Education Specialist, General Education Teacher, Paraprofessional

Behavior Intervention Plan

The behavior impeding learning is: Verbal refusal and putting his head down when given writing tasks.

Antecedents / triggers: Long writing assignments, especially without a model; being asked to write in front of peers.

Environmental changes and supports:

• Provide a model paragraph and sentence starters at the start of writing tasks.

• Break writing into 10-minute chunks with a check-in after each chunk.

Replacement behavior: Ethan will ask for help by saying "Can you help me start?" or by placing his help card on the desk.

Reactive strategies: Offer a choice between two ways to start. Do not argue or repeat demands. If Ethan puts his head down, wait 2 minutes, then quietly offer help.

Health

No health concerns noted at this time.
