Present Levels of Performance and Individual Needs

Academic Achievement, Functional Performance and Learning Characteristics

Maya reads at an early third grade level. She decodes most single-syllable words accurately but slows down on multisyllabic words, which affects her comprehension of fourth grade texts. In math she is at grade level for computation and benefits from visual models for word problems. Maya's writing is short and she avoids writing tasks; she can dictate detailed ideas orally.

Strengths: Maya is a creative storyteller with a strong oral vocabulary. She works well with a partner, responds well to praise, and enjoys science and drawing.

Social Development

Maya has close friendships and participates in group work. She becomes frustrated during long independent writing tasks and may leave her work area.

Management Needs

Maya needs frequent checks for understanding, refocusing and redirection, and a visual checklist for multi-step tasks.

Student Needs Relating to Special Factors

Does the student need strategies, including positive behavioral interventions, supports and other strategies to address behaviors that impede the student's learning? Yes. A behavioral intervention plan is attached.

Does the student need assistive technology devices and/or services? Yes.

Behavioral Intervention Plan (BIP)

Target behavior: Leaving the assigned work area during independent writing tasks, about 3 times per day.

Likely function: To escape writing tasks that feel too long or difficult.

Prevention strategies:

• Break writing assignments into short steps using the visual checklist.

• Offer a choice of speech-to-text or writing by hand before each writing task.

• Give a 2-minute warning before transitions to writing.

Replacement behavior: Maya will request a 3-minute break using her break card.

Responses when the behavior occurs: Calmly prompt Maya to use her break card and return to her seat. Avoid public reprimands. Praise her when she returns to work.

Health Information

Health alert: Maya has a severe peanut allergy. An EpiPen is kept in the nurse's office and in Maya's backpack. Staff on field trips must carry the EpiPen.
